

Bus Fun!

The following week the alternator had not come back from being rebuilt, so armed with two spare batteries we headed off to Missouri. We got to St. Joe, MO without a problem and headed for Leavenworth, KS. Got there late, around midnight I think, and got everything set up as we had an 8 a.m. service and wouldn't have time to set up prior to that. We were starting to have some battery problems, so our friend Charles let us put our batteries in his truck. The idea was that after the first service, we would take those batteries to a parts store in town and have them charged up. On the way to the motel that night the lights went out on the bus and one of Leavenworth's finest pulled in behind us to let us know...:o)

The next morning we did two services at the Frist Baptist Church in Leavenworth, then went to get the batteries on our way to Wellington, MO. The guy at the parts store said the batteries wouldn't take a charge...Now we are wondering...will we make it to Wellington, and if we do, will we make it home?

We believe the Lord has a plan for everything and we were sure that He wouldn't take us somewhere without a way home. Sure enough, there were some fellas that had a heavy-duty charger and charged up our unchargeable batteries and helped us put them in...and we made it home...

During the week, Dale got the rebuilt alternator back, cost over $500, and guess what...they put it in and it didn't work...:o(So that had to be sent back...in the mean time, Dale found a guy in town to look over the temporary alternator and got it working for only $150...anyway, that got us through the weekend! The End...:o)
