

Happy Mother's Day

Praise the Lord for Mothers. Where would we be without them? Would we be? There's that Chicken and egg question...

Moms are AWESOME! Praise God for all they do, and if you're a mother, for all you do! Have a Great, Blessed, Wonderful Day!

More Favorites

Next week we should be announcing the release of a new compilation CD, "Then & Now-More Favorites". A CD containing another 22 songs from the last 26 years. Songs that are not on the current "All the Favorites" CD. After I pulled this together, I have listened to it several times, and believe it is a great collection of songs by the Echoes both past and present.

Song List:

- |                                  |                               |
|----------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| 1. Whatever It Takes             | 12. Forgive Me                |
| 2. Beulah Land                   | 13. He'd Still Been God       |
| 3. Tell Me                       | 14. I'll Fly Away             |
| 4. Loving God, Loving Each Other | 15. Hide Thou Me              |
| 5. I'm Free                      | 16. Where No One Stands Alone |
| 6. Step Into The Water           | 17. Star Spangled Banner      |
| 7. I'm Not Giving Up             | 18. Where The River Flows     |
| 8. Farther Along                 | 19. Hide Thou Me              |
| 9. Oh Buddha                     | 20. My Lord and I             |
| 10. Sweet Spirit                 | 21. Something About That Name |
| 11. Singing With The Saints      | 22. Lovest Thou Me            |

Thoughts to Ponder

Have you experienced a relationship that brought about hurt and bitterness? Have you been hurt when someone ended a relationship with you? Have you ever been in a relationship with someone who disappointed you?

Whether it is your relationship with a parent or other family member ... or with a friend ... or with your children ... or with a spouse or significant other—negative or broken relationships hurt. But you can have a relationship with Someone who will never hurt you, never leave you, never disappoint you. You can have that kind of relationship with God the Father through his Son, Jesus.

Consider this...

Sometimes you might feel as though God has failed you in some way. But if you will continue to trust him and to rely on his unfailing love, you will find that if you walk in obedience to him, all things really will work out for your good. And even though there may be times when you feel as though he has left you, you'll learn that he never does.

God is your Father. Psalm 37 teaches that he directs your steps and delights in every detail of your life. Almighty God, the One who created the heavens and the earth and all that is, delights in every detail of your life!

A relationship with God is the only perfect relationship. He is love. He is truth. And He is your Father.

Prayer

Father, thank you for your assurance that I can always rely on your unfailing love. Forgive me for the times I have felt as though you let me down. Sooner or later I always realize that you had been with me and working everything out for my good all along. Teach me to trust you more. In Jesus' name ...