

Greetings From The Echoes!

Hello again from Echoes land...Blessings on you!

This Week On The Bus!

Well not much to report this week on the bus. We did have a couple of instances when the bus didn't want to start, but we managed to work that out.

The bus has been in the shop off and on the last couple of weeks with some maintenance things, but also to get some body work done where we encountered the fence a couple of weeks ago. We're still having some trouble with the door popping open while we're going down the road...that's a little scary when someone is sitting in the crash seat....o)

Seems like something else happened, but I can't remember.
